Washington, DC -- The news releases issued on June 30 and July 7, 2016, for the Upland Cotton Special Import Quota (#21 and #22) failed to recognize that the U.S. Far East price did not exceed the prevailing world market price during the consecutive 4-week period ending on the date of the announcement. We regret the error. When this condition (for any consecutive 4-week period, the U.S. Far East price exceeds the prevailing world market price) is met again in the future, a Special Import Quota announcement will be issued.
